SavorCity features monthly visits to neighborhood restaurants where guests experience the authentic local cuisine of Bridgeport's many neighborhoods including Brazilian, Chinese, Thai, Puerto Rican, Colombian, Italian, Jamaican, Mexican, Portuguese, Turkish, Vietnamese and more, as well as the works of Bridgeport's artists and musicians.

We invite you to join us at SavorCity, a monthly tour of Bridgeport restaurants, food, art and music, showcasing the cultural delights and hidden gems of Connecticut's most diverse city. We launched our exploration at Ruuthai's Kitchen, in April in the West End, continued with dinner at Bereket Turkish Cuisine in Black Rock in May, Trattoria 'A Vucchella in June in Downtown, and Dolphin's Cove, Aug. 7, in the East End. In September we move to Ola Latin Kitchen in the Brooklawn/St. Vincent Neighborhood on Wed. Sept. 12.

Presenting an artful blend of Latin styles and bold flavors, on a $30 prix fixe menu with vegetarian options, chef-owner René Lemus spins regional ingredients into beautifully balanced dishes, reflecting the cuisine of Latin America inflected with Portuguese and Spanish flavors. Our musician will be guitarist Victor Anthony Ramirez and the art on the walls will be the astonishing textile weavings by Ruben Marroquin.
